

Thank you for carrying us through your prayers...

He giveth more grace...

“He giveth more grace when the burdens grow greater, He sendeth more strength when the labors increase, To added affliction He addeth His mercy, To multiplied trials, His multiplied peace.

His love has no limit, His grace has no measure, His power no boundary known unto men, For out of His infinite riches in Jesus, He giveth and giveth and giveth again.

When we have exhausted our store of endurance, When our strength has failed ere the day is half-done, When we reach the end of our hoarded resources,

Our Father’s full giving is only begun.” (Annie Johnson Flint)

We had a full week at the Katungulu Bible College, where we completed the first training for this trip. It was a true blessing to be back with our 146 students, catching up with those who have been with us for two years and getting to know all the new first-year students.

I was fortunate to have Malaki and Eliada Bujiku join me again as co-teachers. Not only is it a joy to teach alongside them, but I also cherish the time we spend together, especially our travels in Malaki’s mission car.

One of the most joyful moments of the week was watching our students minister to 156 children from the Compassion International project. The Gospel was shared through the engaging "watermelon story," and their enthusiasm was contagious.

Looking ahead, this week we will complete the first training cycle for pastors, evangelists, and their spouses in the Mwanza Diocese. This is a particularly special moment as we reach Level 3 with students we have been discipling for three years. I'll be joined by Malaki, Eliada, and Rev. Emanuel Machibula, and we would appreciate your prayers for them, their families, and all our students making the journey to attend.

This was a tough week for my family, as my mom fell and broke her left wrist. The good news is she returned home on Friday and is recovering day by day. Your prayers for her and my sister’s family are truly needed.

We also ask for your prayers for Kobus, Jacques, and Wiehan, who are keeping everything running at home. Kobus has a trip to Vietnam coming up this week, so please pray for his travels and that his time there will be fruitful.

Thank you all for being part of this journey with us; you are loved, remembered and prayed for.

“Every time you cross my mind, I break out in exclamations of thanks to God. Each exclamation is a trigger to prayer. I find myself praying for you with a glad heart. I am so pleased that you have continued on in this with us, believing and proclaiming God’s Message, from the day you heard it right up to the present. There has never been the slightest doubt in my mind that the God who started this great work in you would keep at it and bring it to a flourishing finish on the very day Christ Jesus appears.” Philipians 1:3
