

Biography for Rev. Ken Brown

A recognized visionary pastor in large church settings for nearly three decades, Rev. Ken Brown is the Senior Pastor of Trinity United Methodist Church in Denver and previously served Broomfield UMC for 15 years.

Rev. Brown is a second career pastor, previously serving as a Marketing Director for a real estate development company. He earned his undergraduate degree in business administration from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Earning his Master of Divinity degree from Duke Divinity School at Duke University, Rev. Brown is ordained for ministry in the United Methodist Church. He is highly respected for his effectiveness to establish networks and successful pastorates in North Carolina, Florida, and Colorado.

Rev. Brown has been an executive advisor to Hope House of Colorado, A Precious Child, and CASA of Adams and Broomfield Counties. He currently serves on the Board of Directors for Take Note Colorado and Iliff School of Theology.

Nationally regarded as a small group ministry expert, Rev. Brown's innovations with discipleship have been published in Net Results, Circuit Rider, Leader in Christian Education and Developing an Intentional Discipleship System: A Guide for Congregations.

He resides in the Denver metro area. He has four phenomenal adult daughters and two glorious grandsons. Rev. Brown and his wife Kelly now actively parent their two cats.